the abundance habits

7-Day Money Habits Challenge

one small habit a day, seven days in a row

Day 1

Track every dollar

For the next 24 hours, write down everything you spend, even the small stuff. Do not judge it and do not change anything yet. You are just turning the lights on. Most people are surprised by what they find.

Today's task

☐ done

Write down every purchase you make today, with the amount and how you felt buying it.

Notes

Day 2

Find your money leaks

Subscriptions and auto-renewals are the quietest way money leaves your account. A leak is anything you pay for but would not sign up for again today.

Today's task

☐ done

Open your bank app, list every recurring payment, and cancel or pause at least one leak.

Notes

Day 3

The 24-hour rule

Impulse buys feel urgent and then fade. Waiting one day before any non-essential purchase gives your future self a vote. If you still want it tomorrow, it was probably worth it.

Today's task

☐ done

Put anything you want to buy today on a wait list. Check the list again tomorrow.

Notes

Day 4

Pay yourself first

Saving what is left at the end of the month rarely works, because there is rarely anything left. Moving money to savings the day you get paid flips the order.

Today's task

☐ done

Set up an automatic transfer to savings on payday. The amount matters less than the habit.

Notes

Day 5

The 2-minute money che

Rich habits are boring and frequent. Two minutes a day looking at what came in, what went out and where it is going keeps you in control instead of guessing.

Today's task

☐ done

Tomorrow morning, before your phone owns your day, spend two minutes looking at your ~~accounts.~~

Notes

Day 6

Write your why

Money is a tool, not the goal. Knowing what abundance means to you, more time, less stress, freedom to say no, makes every small choice easier.

Today's task

done

Finish this sentence in three different ways:
Abundance, for me, means...

Notes

Day 7

Keep one habit

You do not need all six habits. You need one that sticks. Pick the one that felt easiest this week and make it part of your normal routine.

Today's task

☐ done

Choose your habit, write it below, and put a reminder in your calendar for every week.

Notes

You did it.

Seven days ago these were just ideas. Now they are things you have actually done. Keep the one habit that stuck, and come back to this challenge any month you feel off track.

One money habit a day:
@theabundancehabits

Educational only, not financial advice. This guide is about habits and mindset. It does not recommend any investment, product or financial service.